

2016 Newark’s Pequannock Watershed Recreational Fees

Purchased in 1900 by the City of Newark, New Jersey, the Pequannock Watershed is located 35 miles northwest of the City in portions of Morris, Passaic and Sussex Counties. The area consists of approximately 35,000 acres and contains five major reservoirs which supply clean water to the City of Newark and its customers. Newark’s stewardship of the land has resulted in the continued maintenance of one of the region’s largest open space resources. Since 1970, the City of Newark opened the property for recreational and educational use. A fee for each permit is required in order for the general public to enjoy the rich recreational resources that are permitted in this most scenic area within the State of New Jersey.
